What the judges are looking for

- Applications that stand out through their clear signalling of achievements, succinct descriptions of work done and benefits achieved, and the provision of quantitative information, will have a greater chance of impressing the judges.
- The judging will be based on a composite view of the application, taking account of the following criteria, and the specific nature of the Award category:

- How well does the project fit the category
- The nature and size of both environmental and non-environmental benefits (relative to its context)
- The relationship between benefits and costs
- Broader significance to the sector (e.g. originality, innovation/best practice within the sector, pathfinder status; replicability)
- The quality and reliability of evidence supporting the claims being made (e.g. quantitative evidence of benefits and outcomes)
- Unusual features which make the application 'stand out from the crowd' (e.g. extraordinary commitment and impact of a member of staff, quirky responses to topics that are sometimes seen as boring).

Exceptions

If your region already has an existing Green Gown Awards programme then you can only apply once to your regional Green Gown Award programme and are NOT eligible to apply for the Global Universities Partnership on Environment and Sustainability Green Gown Awards, regardless of whether you are a Global Universities Partnership on Environment and Sustainability member or not. ## Filling out the application form

Please cover the following topics in your application:

Cover Page - General Information - If the application is being made by a third party, or other non-academic body, please obtain prior approval from the institution, and provide a contact at the institution.

Sustainability Development Goals (SDG): Please select up to four SDGs that your application particularly delivers against. As educators for future generations of leaders, post-16 education has a critical responsibility for the successful implementation and realisation of the SDGs. Education is a transformational element in realising all goals. This is NOT a part of the judging process but will be used in various marketing communications and campaigns as a collective of all applications to illustrate the role of applicants in delivering the SDGs. Click here for more information on the SDGs.

Project Title and Summary – please make it as 'catchy' and descriptive as possible. If you are selected as a Finalist, this text will be included in the Finalists' Brochure.

Organisational Profile - You must provide the relevant information and include a short profile of your organisation.

The Initiative – Describe the initiative, covering topics such as the activities undertaken; reasons for doing it; timescale; costs (in cash and staff time); current status (on-going, completed etc.); departments/organisations involved; any external recognition. Include quantitative data/cost data/budget analysis. We recommend you to provide as much evidence and supporting text here as you can. If there is a lot of data you want to include try and summarise it as much as possible. Please do not use links to external websites as judges may not necessarily review all the information so if possible include important elements here. We also want to hear about how the project was funded, what level of funding it received, which partners you worked with as well as any financial benefits gained from the project.

The Environmental and Social Benefits - Summarise the benefits. Benefits may relate to operational outcomes, environmental/social outcomes, sector benefits. Provide as much quantification as possible, making maximum use of normalised measures (e.g. energy per student or square metre of floor space) and be consistent in use of units. Be sure to highlight distinctive features (e.g. levels of energy and water efficiency saving, success in reducing car usage). Summarise the sustainable procurement practices – covering initiatives you used and any obstacles you encountered. What procurement practices were put into place as a result of your project? Has this resulted in a positive shift in attitude? Or in future procurement activities? Describe any financial implications as a result of your procurement practices? How were circular economy principles used? What are your project's legal requirements versus what you have done over and beyond these standard requirements?

Leadership and Engagement - Please summarise what you feel is distinctive about your proposal e.g. originality; replicability through the sector; outstanding example of best practice; application of new technology, process or approach; new application of an existing product; demonstrating leadership in communicating your initiative. Also describe learning from the initiative that could be of relevance to other institutions. Evidence of transfer to other institutions should be provided where available. Please indicate what ways you have involved others in your project. This could include other departments/faculties, the local community and industry, as well as what communication about the project has taken place. Where possible include examples of engagement and/or the communication processes. Please provide the above answers in the relevant boxes. The dissemination and replication, project reach and scale of impact wider than the sector questions must be answered fully as this forms part of the judging criteria for the International Green Gown Awards.

Wider Societal Impact - Please outline the wider societal impact and value of your application. What is the impact of your application to society outside of your institution, staff and students? What is the legacy of your application as it benefits wider society? Provide evidence of the impact.

Graduate Employer Impact - Please outline the impact and value of your application to graduate employers. How has your application improved graduate employability attributes that will attract them to potential employers? What is the legacy of your application as it benefits graduate employers? Provide evidence of the impact.

By submitting an application you are agreeing to these conditions:

1. All applications must be received on an official application form in English by the stated deadline. Late applications will not be accepted.
2. Third party organisations may enter on behalf of an institution, but an institution employee must approve the application. Any such listings, including the Award, will use the institution's name and not to the third party organisation.
3. Applications must be for an individual institution initiative and not for wider sector initiatives. Applications recognising collaboration from multiple institutions are welcomed but must have a leading institution. We recognise that partnerships can have a significant role to solving sustainability issues and these will be recognised – if appropriate - in the form of a group/partnership name.
4. The Awards organisers reserve the right to refuse an entry if the rules have not been met.
5. The Awards organisers reserve the right to audit winning applications to ensure that claims made are fully justified.
6. Applications, by applying, agree to disseminate good practice to the sector and this information will be in the public domain.
7. The Awards organisers will aim to provide generic feedback on unsuccessful applicants. However, due to the number of applications this cannot be guaranteed and specific feedback cannot be provided.
8. All Finalists are required to submit a case study and video as part of their commitment for dissemination to the wider sector. Guidelines will be provided to the Finalists and the deadline to provide these is 4 January 2018.
9. Entries are accepted from any legal entity within the post-16/tertiary education sector residing within the relevant Global Universities Partnership on Environment and Sustainability regions. All applications will be governed by the same rules and no preferential treatment will be given. However, if you are eligible to enter a regional Green Gown Award (e.g. UK & Ireland, Australasia or French speaking Europe and Canada) then you are not eligible to apply for the Global Universities Partnership on Environment and Sustainability Green Gown Awards. Applications received that are not eligible to enter will automatically be discounted and will not be judged.
10. All applications received agree to their contact details being passed to any relevant supporters or sponsors of the Awards. If you do not wish to have your details included you must notify us by email by 12 October 2017.
11. The Awards organiser's decisions are final and no correspondence will be entered into.
